Someone once said there are two great days in our lives: the day we are born and the day we discover why. I'm pretty sure you know when you were born. But do you know why you were born? Over the years, I have watched and listened to successful leaders and have discovered a common thing among them: They all know why they exist. Knowing their purpose in life gives them ____ (A) _____. While others start ____ (B) _____ their causes and jumping ship when life gets tough, successful leaders use this to ____ (C) _____ themselves, to steady the boat, and to ride out the storm because they have a true North Star.

I'd like to tell you something that goes against all of the rules you have ever been taught or have ever believed about weaknesses: From this moment on, stop working on your weaknesses. Why? Well, it's very simple. The reason is that we are weak in our weaknesses, so stop doing the things that you're not any good at.

Our education system tends to encourage us to work on our weaknesses. If you got an A in music but a C in history, what did your teachers tell you to work on? That's right: history. They said, "Get that history grade up." Here's my point: Focus on music. You have a music mind. It's not that you're dumb; it's just that your music mind is better than your history mind. You're better at notes than dates and years.

- ① Nurture your strengths.
- ② Music is better than history.
- ③ Concentrate on your weaknesses.
- ④ Our education system does not fit teenagers.
- ⑤ Why don't you stop working on what you like to do?

Let me tell you my own experience. One day when I was in my 20s, I was attending a self-improvement conference in Lancaster, Ohio, where I had a chance to meet the lecturer.

(A) Then, he said, "Growth is not an automatic process. If you're going to grow, you need to do so intentionally." Somehow, his words set fire in my mind. That evening, I sat down and thought about my growth plan.

(B) He asked me, "What's your plan for growth?" I was young and didn't know I was even supposed to have a plan for growth, so I mumbled, "Eh, I don't have a plan."

(C) That was the beginning. I took the whole year to figure out how to make a growth plan, and it changed my life. For the past thirty years, I've been on a personal growth plan every year.

And that's why we need the second path, _____(A)_____ I'd call the Strength Zone Path. It's the path _____(B)_____ you should ask yourself and answer: What do I do well? What is the uniqueness that sets me apart from everybody else?

Everyone has a uniqueness that enables them to rise above the rest if they just discover it, fine-tune it, work hard, and grow in it. In most cases, it's _____(C)_____ you do well and what you like doing. I see millions of people doing what they don't like doing and wondering why they're not successful.

However, passion can only get you so far. Just watch the singing tryouts on American Idol. Bless their hearts, these kids are extremely passionate, many of them singing with all of the off-key enthusiasm they can gather. But that doesn't mean 그들이 전문적인 가수가 되는데 필요한 것(자질)을 갖추고 있다. While passions will get you into sthe neighborhood, it's only about 80 percent accurate.

열정은 내가 "커다란 활력제"라고 부르는 것이다. It's no secret that passionate people have a lot of energy. That's why successful people love what they're doing and do what they love. They love the journey as much as the destination. And even though they might not have arrived yet, they remain encouraged because they still have fuel in their tanks from their passion.
